

ARIZONA CREDIT UNIONS

ECONOMIC AND COMMUNITY IMPACTS

2.2 million Arizonans – 30% of the population – trust credit unions as their financial partners. And no wonder. Credit unions' not-for-profit, member-owned, cooperative structure inherently holds them accountable to the people and communities they serve.

Committed to the Community*

As not-for-profit cooperatives, credit unions' commitment to the community is in their everyday DNA. Across the state, credit unions look out for Arizonans' financial well-being, by providing financial education, helping them to save for a brighter future, and by making the loans that help them get the keys to their dream homes, and buy the autos that get them to work and school.

Essential to the Economy*

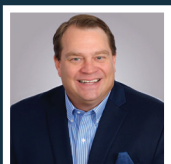

Not-for-profit, cooperative credit unions reinvest earnings in their members through benefits that save them money on their credit cards, car loan interest rates, or on fees. When those savings are spent on Main Street, the entire economy benefits.
